

RADIATION SAFETY ACT
FIRST APPLICATION FOR A LICENCE / EXEMPTION FROM LICENCE
RADIOACTIVE SUBSTANCES

- The application must be signed personally, not by an agent.
- Licences (and exemptions from licence) are personal and cannot be transferred to another person.
- Refer to the general information provided overleaf before completing the application.
- For additional assistance, call (08) 9222 2000

Industrial Radiography applicants only: the Regulations require two (2) recent passport-sized photographs of yourself, signed and dated on the reverse. Only two photographs are required, even if you are applying for both x-ray and radioactive substances industrial radiography licences.

LICENCE INFORMATION

APPLICABLE TO BOTH LICENCES AND INDIVIDUAL EXEMPTIONS FROM LICENCE

A licence may be granted –

- to operate, use, manufacture, store, sell, possess, install, service, maintain, repair, test, or otherwise deal with x-ray equipment, prescribed electronic products¹ or radioactive substances.
- for one or more purposes. It may specify the type(s) of x-ray equipment and electronic products or the types and quantities of radioactive substances with which the licensee may deal.

A licensee is permitted to deal with radiation on registered premises or at field sites. However, approval for a licensee to work with radiation at a particular location is ultimately the responsibility of the Registrant (usually the 'owner' of the premises).

Licences may be subject to a number of conditions, compliance with which is required under Section 36 of the Act. Failure to comply is an offence.

Separate licences are required for –

- x-ray equipment and/or prescribed electronic products, and for
- radioactive substances.

Industrial Radiography

If you apply for an industrial radiography licence you must also submit two (2) passport size head and shoulder photographs of yourself, signed and dated on the reverse. The two (2) photographs will suffice for both x-ray and radioactive substances licence applications.

Fees paid by Employers

If you are required to hold a licence because of the nature of your work as an employee, your employer may elect to pay the fee. This is a private arrangement and it remains your responsibility, as the applicant, to ensure that the application form and fees are submitted.

TRANSFERRING LICENCES

Your licence is personal and cannot be transferred to another person.

FURTHER INFORMATION

If you require assistance in completing the form please telephone (08) 9222 2000.

INITIAL APPLICATIONS

Name and Address

- Give your residential or postal address. If you are an employee at a large organisation and your need for a licence is specific to that organisation, you should first discuss the application with the organisation's Radiation Safety Officer. Your employer (as the 'registrant' under the Act) has a number of obligations to fulfil and he or she may prefer to process renewal applications centrally to ensure that those obligations are met.

Qualifications

- Your formal qualifications should be given in full. Any additional training and experience relevant to the application should also be stated.

Purpose

- Briefly describe the purpose(s) for which the licence is required.

RENEWAL APPLICATIONS

Renewal notices for both licences and exemptions are issued at the beginning of the month preceding expiry.

Please ensure that –

- the completed and signed renewal application is submitted before the expiry date shown on the form, and that
- the relevant fee (if applicable) accompanies the application.

FAILURE TO RENEW A LICENCE

Your licence is invalid if the renewal application is not received by the Radiological Council before the expiry date. You may be committing an offence if you continue to deal with x-ray equipment, prescribed electronic products or radioactive substances after that date.
